$100,000 winner using li- cense plates

Sept. 18 (UPI) -- A Virginia woman who kept

seeing the same set of numbers on license
plates decided to use them to play the lottery
and scored a $100,000
prize.

The Norfolk resident told Virginia Lottery officials she kept seeing the numbers 0-8-1-1-6 in various places, including the license plates of vehicles.

The woman decided
the numbers were a message from the universe, so she used them to buy
two tickets for the Aug.
12 Pick 5 night drawing online.

Her numbers came up, earning her a pair of $50,000 prizes.

"When I saw those zeroes, I thought I was seeing double," she said. "I started screaming!"

The woman did not reveal whether she has any immediate plans for her winnings.

Aaron ready for post season

NEW YORK — One day
after New York Yankees
manager Aaron Boone
said that he was not
"planning" on having superstar right fielder Aaron Judge available
for the start of the American League Wild Card Series, the Yankees' captain expressed his displeasure with that insuation.

"My goal is to come back
as soon as I can," Judge said after the Yankees' 9-2 win over the Tampa Bay Rays on Wednesday.
"That's what we're doing right now. If he says I'm not going to be ready, I've got no control over that.
I got control over what I can do to try to get back
as soon as I can.

"If you ask me if I'm gonna be back, I'm gonna tell you, I'm doing everything I can every single day I show up here
to get back and be ready to go."

Judge, who received a platelet-poor plasma injection in his strained right calf Monday, said
he's been doing work behind the scenes in the training room and weight room to be ready for Game 1 on Tuesday.

He said that when he returns, he intends to play right field and not just be a designated hitter. He believes that gives the Yankees their best possible lineup, as it allows Ben Rice, who hit his

40th and 41st home
runs of the season
Wednesday, to DH.

Boone said Tuesday that Judge sustained a "moderate"-grade calf strain,
which normally takes several weeks to recover
from. Judge took exception to his manager revealing his diagnosis.

"Everybody's 'moderate'
is a little different," Judge said. "I think your moderate is a little different than my moderate,
and so on and so on.

"So I don't know why he used those words, but I'm trying to come back
as soon as I can."

Judge added: "Boonie's my guy. I've always got his back. I know he makes the right decisions. Obviously, as a player, you don't want to hear that. But that's out of my control. I've got a job to do. I've got to come back and be ready to go.
That's what I'm focused on right now."

Judge previously said that his strain is in the soleus muscle of his calf, which is "a little more crucial with running and hitting and all those kinds of things."

That makes a potential return next week seem like a stretch, especially because the injury isn't considered minor. But the Yankees will likely continue to be vague

about any timeline, as is normally the case
with any injury involving Judge.

"I'm not even going to get into the speculation
game now," Boone said.
"He'll be in there or not.
We'll see."

Coach Mike Zaklan dies

September 8, 2026

Michael Stephen "Mike"
Zaklan Sr., 84, of Linden, passed away
peacefully on September 8, surrounded by his loving family.

He was a legendary coach and longtime educator in Linden.

Born in Sandpoint, Idaho, Mike excelled in athletics at Sandpoint High School, where he played football, basketball, and baseball. His success on the basketball court earned him a scholarship to Idaho State University, where he played guard for four years and graduated in 1964 with a degree in physical education.

Mike began his teaching career in Blackfoot,
Idaho, before moving to California in 1966 to teach at Linden Elementary School. That same year, he started

Get rid of DMV? One Governor candidate says yes

Saying "enough is enough," Steve Hilton said he wants to get rid of the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

Rallying in front of a DMV office in West Hollywood recently, the Republican candidate for governor said he wants to abolish the department by transferring its functions
to a combination of online services and local county offices. If elected he would also cap the annual vehicle registration to a flat fee of $73.

The message has echoes
of former Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger's 2003 campaign, when he
blasted Twisted Sister's
"We're not gonna take it"
at rallies and rode Californians' anger over former Gov. Gray Davis' increase in vehicle license

fees to victory.

Hilton said his push to shut down this "bloated,
nanny state, bureaucratic agency" is part of his wider effort to make California more affordable. California is one of about 10 states that has its own standalone DMV, according to Hilton, and some vehicle registration fees can cost as much as $1,000.

Hilton: "You're being ripped off by your government. They are gouging you with the DMV
and vehicle registration.

This week in history

This week in 1789, the US Federal Judiciary Act was passed creating a six-member Supreme Court. President George Washington nominates John Jay as the first Chief Justice.

In 1855, Joaquin Murietta's preserved head and Three-Fingered Jack's hand were sold at an auction for thirty-six dollars. The men were considered Mexican outlaws, or Robin Hoods, depending on one's opinion of their retaliatory attacks against racist gold-miners. Murietta's head and Three-Fingered Jack's hand were displayed around the state and were said to have disappeared in San Francisco during the 1906 earthquake. The gruesome items were also said to be cursed as two owners of the body parts died mysteriously.

This week's birthdays:

John Marshall (1755) 4th Chief Justice of the United States (1801-35).

F. Scott Fitzgerald (1896) American author (Great Gatsby, Zelda).

Jim McKay (1921) American sportscaster (ABC's Wide World of Sports).

John Young (1930) American astronaut and the 9th person to walk on the Moon.

Jim Henson (1936) American puppeteer, artist, screenwriter and filmmaker, best known as the creator of the Muppets (Sesame Street, The Muppet Show).

Linda McCartney (1941) American photographer, musician (Wings) and 1st wife of Paul McCartney.

Gerry Marsden (1942) British rock vocalist (Gerry & the Pacemakers: How Do You Do It?, Ferry Cross the Mersey, Don Let the Sun Catch You Crying).

Lou Dobbs (1945) American broadcast journalist and conservative political pundit (CNN 1980-99, Fox Business 2011-2021).

Eddie George (1973) American College Hall of Fame running back (Heisman Trophy 1995).

Sports Fact:

This week in 1920, future Hall of Famer, Babe Ruth became the first player to hit 50 home runs in an MLB season.

In 1940, future Hall of Farrier, Jimmie Foxx hit his 500th career home run.

Sunday evenings were always a special time in our small church in Northern Ohio. After singing a few hymns, Pastor Stanley would walk to the pulpit and ask, "Who would like to stand up tonight and thank the Lord publicly for His goodness and blessings during the last week?" We would all wait anxiously to hear what God had "been doing" since last Sunday evening. It was a time of sharing and rejoicing. We were always happy when someone was healed or helped. God got all the credit but we all rejoiced with the one who He had honored. We believed that when we asked, God would answer. And when He answered we all enjoyed the results and gave thanks together.

God heard and answered David's prayer. But the nature of his prayer or the problems he was facing are not defined. However, in his concluding remarks he writes of God being "delighted in the well-being of His servant." Well-being includes everything and anything that concerns us. Big or little, large or small. Whatever concerns us concerned God first because His goodness and grace has no limit. They exceed our imagination.

The answer to his prayer was the beginning of an important event in his life. He did not go quietly to his room and thank God by himself. No! He insisted on sharing his joy with others and said, "Come and join me. Let those who are happy with God's blessings on me rejoice with me - all day!" What a way to grow.

After we pray together, let's praise together.

Whenever is a gracious word that sounds very comforting when someone offers to help us when we are going through a difficult time. We know that someone will help when we dial 911. Our homes are wrapped in security systems "in case" someone tries to enter if they are not invited. There are endless "alerts" available to notify someone, somewhere if we fall, encounter pain or face an emergency. We are to be thankful for these and many other devices that let us know that help is available.

In Psalm 34 we are reminded of the realities of life. "God's eyes," says David "are on the righteous," His "ears attentive to their cry." So, whenever the righteous cry out, "the Lord hears them." Not may or might hear them, could or should hear them - but will hear them. We do not have to get in line, dial a number on a phone or press a button. Just "call out." Whenever. David is very realistic about life. He's been there and endured that. When he speaks about the tragedies in his life, we can enter into his experience with him. We have walked through the deep valleys as he has and have stumbled through similar shadows. Christians are not given a "free pass" to a life without problems.

But we are given the assurance that God is more than present. "His eyes are on us" and "His ears open to us." So, when our hearts are broken by the tragedies of life, our spirits crushed in grief, our joints ache and our illnesses never seem to end, He's with us!

The Linden Lions came up short against the Manteca Buffaloes on Wednesday, falling 3-0. The Lions have now taken an 'L' in back-to-back games.

While Linden was not able to put a set on the board, they still kept things close, especially in the second set. The match finished with set scores of 25-19, 25-22, 25-19.

Allie Kehoe paced Linden's offense, picking up seven kills.

Kehoe got some help from Saylor Wakeham and her nine assists. Katie Schallberger controlled things from the service line, finishing with 15 aces.

Taimane Tu'Uga produced another solid performance, getting 21 digs, 15 kills, two aces, and a solo block for Manteca. The team also got some help from Ariceli McBroom, who had 14 digs, nine kills, and three aces.

Linden's loss dropped their record down to 7-6. As for Manteca, they have now won eight of their last nine games at home. That gives them a 6-3 record this season.

Top grid performance for Alex Herrera

Alex Herrera (#13) next to his dad Chris along with family and friends

This weekend was a movie for the Chris Herrera Family! Chris Herrera, the former coach for footbll at Linden, traveled with his family to Illinois to see son Alex (an ex-Lion star) play for the Illinois State Redbirds.

“We choose to put the kids first always and somehow, someway they have found a way to exceed every expectation,” said Chris. “Alex played Eastern Illinois University this weekend, his home for the last couple of years and his first opportunity! He chose to go into the portal, not for money but for him to know that he was not only good enough to play at the highest level (Illinois State is currently ranked between 4-6th in FCS).

“He loved the environment in Bloomington and they were the national champion runner up last season. Not only can he play at this level, he is excelling! He was named captain this week and promptly went out and scored his third touchdown in three consecutive games!

“My proudest moment was after the game no less that 30-40 former teammates stood in line to hug him and his former staff when he played for Eastern Illinois sought him out to congratulate him which means he left a great impression.

“Not all relationships work out, but how you carry yourself in adversity is who you really are. I am so proud of you, Alex, for many things but most of all for the man you have become. Great job this weekend.

Illinois State Football and Illinois State University and all of the fans (sold out game) you are the pinnacle of Mid Major football and we are honored and grateful for the opportunity to be a part of Redbird nation.”

Hilton also proposes to turn California’s nearly 170 DMV field offices into afterschool club facilities and skilled training centers.
Speaking of Hilton: The former Fox News host will face his Democratic opponent, Xavier Becerra, during an hourlong, televised CNN debate in Los Angeles on Sept. 30 at 6 p.m.
Hilton, who said he wants a series of debates, told reporters he’s “pleased that we’re finally going to get (Becerra) out of the basement,” in reference to Becerra having few public appearances since the June primary. This is the candidates’ first confirmed one-on-one debate.
In November, Californians will choose between two Democrats — state Sen. Ben Allen of El Segundo or former

San Francisco Supervisor Jane Kim — to be the next insurance commissioner.
But what does the commissioner do?
As CalMatters’ Levi Sumagaysay explains, the state’s insurance department makes sure policies are available, premiums are affordable and that insurance companies are held accountable.
Who’s in charge could affect your wallet — especially given the rising risks of wildfires and other climate-related disasters.
In some cases, such as with auto insurance, Californians face some of the highest insurance premiums, which the insurance department is tasked with approving.
The commissioner sets policy either through the regulatory process or working with the Legislature to make new laws.

Trailer fire

Over the past few days, our crews have been busy responding to calls which included two separate vehicle fires.

On September 18 in the evening, E15-2 responded to a fully involved vehicle fire on E. McAllen Road. Then, yesterday, September 21 at 6:59 hours, E15-1 was in the area when the crew noticed a column of smoke. After investigating, they located a camping trailer heavily involved in fire.

Both fires were quickly extinguished with no reported injuries or exposures.

NEW HOGAN RESERVOIR
Current conditions: New Hogan is very warm, with the latest report estimating water around 84F. The current pattern is early morning and evening fishing, with the deeper water becoming important during the daytime.

Striped bass

- Look for bait along the old river channel
- Downline live bait or troll deeper water
- Try 3/4-oz spoons/slabs when bait is showing
- Concentrate around 25-50+ ft, depending on your sonar

Approximate GPS starting areas:

- New Hogan dam/central basin: 38.182' N, 120.7940 W
- Calaveras River arm: 38.2050 N, 120.806' W

Upper river-channel area: 38.225' N, 120.8170 W
These are starting coordinates, not guaranteed fish locations-use your sonar and adjust for the current lake level.

Largemouth bass
The heat is pushing bass toward deeper structure after the morning bite.

Try:

- Points
- Rock walls
- Brush
- Creek channels
- 12-25 ft after sunrise

Good choices:

- Drop-shot
- Carolina rig
- Deep crankbait
- Creature bait
- Topwater at dawn

Catfish
This is a good warm-water option.

Try 20-30 ft, particularly around deeper holes and channel edges. Cut bait/shad and punch bait are appropriate approaches.

CAMANCHE RESERVOIR
From Hogan, I'd put Camanche high on the list for another Central Valley trip.

Targets

- Largemouth bass
- Spotted bass
- Catfish
- Trout when conditions/stocking line up

Starting GPS areas:

- North arm: 38.2550 N, 120.9990 W
- South arm: 38.2080 N, 120.9750 W

CALIFORNIA DELTA
This is where I'd shift if you're specifically chasing stripers. The latest September 18 report has the Delta around 84°F, with the best fishing windows concentrated around dawn and dusk. CDFW notes that threadfin shad, sardines, anchovies, blood-worms and pile worms are commonly used for Delta striped bass.

GPS starting areas

Franks Tract 38.045- N, 121.648- W
Liberty Island 38.188- N, 121.675" W

Fish the tide movement, especially where current meets structure, cuts, points and bait.

Important: Saturday, Sept. 19 has numerous permitted bass tournarnents on the Delta, including multiple events in Contra Costa, Sacramento and San Joaquin areas. Expect crowded ramps and more boat traffic.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY
For your Bay Area fishing, I'd concentrate on:

feet into a sinkhole in her backyard.

Danielle Tammone said she was in her Bohemia backyard

in Long Island on Thursday when the ground suddenly gave way beneath her.

"It was weird. It happened so fast. And then I was just down, down in an 8-foot hole with water and sod," Tammone told News12 Long Island.

Tammone said she struggled to climb out, but the stone around her in the apparent old well was crumbling.

"It's my birthday. This might be my death date," Tammone told CBS New York. "I couldn't breathe well, because I was gasping, and scared and crying."

Tammone's cries were heard by two neighbors.

"At first, we thought she was in the shed or something. We were not looking on the ground," said Christine Chanowsky, one of the women who found Tammone.

The women captured video of the moment they located Tammone and called 911.

Emergency responders lowered a ladder into the hole to help Tammone climb out.

"And they all sang happy birthday to me. It was great," Tammone said.

Out shopping with Mother gets her rich

Sept. 21 (UPI) -- A Virginia woman out shopping with her mother was encouraged to buy a scratch-off lottery ticket and wound up winning $500,000.

The Giles County woman told Virginia Lottery officials she and her mother were shopping at the Food Lion on North Main Street in Pearisburg when the older woman talked her into buying a Big Bank Payday scratch-off ticket.

Both women were shocked when the ticket revealed a $500,000.

"Mom, I think we won $500,000," the winner recalled saying. "You should have seen our faces!"

The woman said her plans for the prize money include buying her mom a new car, purchasing her own vehicle, remodeling a bathroom, taking a trip to Dollywood and investing.

Be patient and someday your ship will arrive

Sept. 15 (UPI) -- A Michigan man's longstanding prediction finally came true when he won a $1.5 million lottery prize from a Lotto 47 Double Play drawing.

The 74-year-old Oakland County man told Michigan Lottery officials he bought his ticket for the June 17 drawing from Zetouna Liquor Fine Wine on Rochester Road in Rochester Hills.

He matched the Lotto 47 Double Play numbers, 34-35-41-44-45-47, earning a $1.5 million prize.

"I play Mega Millions, Powerball, and Lotto 47 regularly and have always told my girlfriend that one day I was going to win big," the winner said. "She always checks my tickets for me, so right after she found out I'd won, she called me and said: 'You really did it! You won the lottery!' When she told me how much I'd won, I was stunned!"

The winner said his prize money will go toward sharing with family and investing.

Raccoon unstuck by Canadian mounties

Sept. 23 (UPI) -- Ontario police blocked a lane of traffic on a highway ramp to rescue a raccoon spotted stuck in a sewer grate on the left shoulder.

Ontario Provincial Police said on social media that officers stationed in Burlington were called to the ramp from eastbound Highway 403 to Highway 407 by "sharp-eyed drivers" who spotted the raccoon's head sticking out from the grate.

Police blocked the left lane of traffic so the grate could be lifted to free the raccoon.

The raccoon, dubbed "Rocky" by OPP, did not appear to be injured and fled the scene on foot.

If visiting Ohio be careful of this ram

Sept. 24 (UPI) -- Officials in an Ohio city are asking local residents and visitors to steer clear of a potentially dangerous ram spotted wandering loose.

The City of Trotwood said in a news release that officials "are aware of an at-large ram that has been spotted moving through several areas of the community over recent days."

The city warned anyone who spots the sheep to keep a safe distance and not attempt to capture, corner, feed, pet or handle the animal.

"Although the animal may appear calm or non-threatening, rams are powerful livestock animals that can become unpredictable, particularly when frightened, startled, cornered or approached," the release said.

Officials do not know where the ram came from and are appealing to the public to help identify its owner.

Rams and other livestock animals are not allowed to be kept in the city of Trotwood, unless they are located in a designated agricultural zone.

Ex-Patriots kicker sets altitude record

Sept. 23 (UPI) -- Former New England Patriots kicker Adam Vinatieri set a Guinness World Record by kicking a field goal at an altitude of 11,317 feet and 8 inches.

Vinatieri, who retired from the team in 2021, attempted the stunt Tuesday at Jungfraujoch, a Swiss Alps saddle known as the Top of Europe.

The 33-yard kick, organized by the Patriots, was timed to promote the team's upcoming game against the Detroit Lions at the Allianz Arena in Munich.

The stunt earned Vinatieri the Guinness World Records title for the highest altitude American football field goal scored.

"Snow is simply part of my time with the Patriots," Vinatieri said in a news release. "But kicking a field goal at 3,454 meters is something completely different from anything I've ever seen in the NFL."

"You feel the altitude with every breath you take, your heart rate is different, your rhythm is different, and no one can really tell you beforehand how it will affect the kick, because no one has done this before. The fact that we were able to set the record under these conditions makes me very proud. This is definitely one of the most special field goals I've ever made."

Stolen Vehicle Recovered Following Flock ALPR Alert

On September 16, at approximately 12:41 p.m., an Angels Camp Police Department officer received a Flock Safety automated license plate reader (ALPR) alert for a stolen vehicle traveling in the 100 block of North Main Street.

The officer reviewed the alert and confirmed that the vehicle's license plate and description matched the information associated with the stolen vehicle. The officer then verified through the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS) that the vehicle was still actively listed as stolen by the originating law enforcement agency.

The officer immediately began searching the area for the vehicle and issued a Be on the Lookout (BOLO) notification to law enforcement agencies throughout Calaveras County. The officer subsequently located the vehicle in the Frog Jump Plaza, located at 51 North Main Street in Angels Camp. The officer contacted and detained the vehicle's occupants, who were identified as James Daniel West, 58, of Angels Camp and Louise Marie Walsh, 55, of San Andreas. Officers also located 13 cats inside the vehicle.

During the subsequent investigation, the officer determined there was probable cause to arrest West for felony vehicle theft and felony possession of a stolen vehicle.

Walsh was also found to have two confirmed outstanding felony warrants issued in Tuolumne County for theft-related charges.

West was arrested for felony vehicle theft and felony possession of a stolen vehicle. Walsh was arrested on the two outstanding felony warrants. Both were transported to and booked into the Calaveras County Jail without incident. The cats were turned over to Calaveras County Animal Control. Mass sooting update

San Joaquin County Sheriff Patrick Withrow says investigators are nearing the next phase of their investigation into the November 29, 2025 Stockton mass shooting that killed 4 and left 13 others injured.

Three of the four people who died were children. Withrow said investigators are waiting for additional evidence from state and federal partners before sending the case to the District Attorney's Office. The evidence package is expected to be extensive. Once prosecutors review it, they will determine whether charges and arrests will follow.

Withrow did not provide a timeline for when that decision could be made.
